

BUDDY CUSTARD

A Frozen Delicious Treat That Will Enhance Your Dog's Life

By LAUREN BENS

For a tasty treat that dogs will not only love but that will increase their longevity, Buddy Custard has to be seen – or rather tasted – to be believed! Founder Robert Schlien was inspired to improve the health and well-being of our canine companions after being diagnosed with cancer over a decade ago. Schlien credits his recovery to a progressive protocol which has been reengineered to revitalize the health and energy levels of dogs. While Buddy Custard does not claim to cure, treat or mitigate any disease it is based on proven protocol that enhances the life of dogs helps to prevent against diabetes, cancer and other serious chronic diseases that plague our pets.

With original and peanut butter flavors, Buddy Custard is the “pet-ra-ceutical,” or nutraceutical, you need to know about to ensure your pet is on the right wellness regime. Buddy Custard is an offshoot of a product developed for humans and stands shoulders, or paws, above other pet foods on the market. According to Robert, the pet industry continues moving towards all-natural and alternative solutions for canine problems, and it doesn't get any better than Buddy Custard.

“The technology and methodology behind this frozen treat is not new, it's based upon a 60-year-old proven formula called The Budwig Protocol” says Robert. “Buddy Custard is revolutionary because it provides critical nutrition for both healthy and ill dogs and is especially beneficial for those dogs diagnosed with cancer. It is recommended for dogs of all ages and becomes even more crucial after the age of ten. That's because it's around this age when three out of four dogs become more prone to getting canine cancer. We developed this product because it's effective and easy-to-use. You simply add the recommended amount to your pets' food per day based on your dogs' size.”

With only four all-natural, human-grade ingredients, this pet-friendly product is safe enough for all sizes and breeds. They even ship each package directly to your door, so all you have to do is keep it in your freezer until you're ready to feed it to Fido. Made with high quality and organic flaxseed oil, cottage cheese, the all-natural stevia herb and natural peanut butter powder in their flavored variety, you can rest assured that your pet will be reenergized without any repercussions. Whether you have a younger pup who is still teething or an older dog suffering from gum issues, the cheesecake flavor and custard-like texture of Buddy Custard makes it a fan favorite amongst all four-legged companions. Robert's own beloved dog, a 12-year-old Havanese named Boo Boo, never had to undergo conventional treatment after being diagnosed with mammary cancer. “She stuck to a strict Buddy Custard diet and is now going on four years of being cancer free. She still plays and acts like a puppy!”

exclaims Robert. “Even other dogs who have undergone treatments have recovered faster when Buddy Custard has been added to their regimen.”

After being diagnosed with Non-Hodgkin's lymphoma in 2005, Robert turned to a formula created by Dr. Johanna Budwig, a German quantum physicist who was the foremost cancer expert in the world back in the 1950s. Dr. Budwig became an expert on understanding the importance of fats in the human diet, and how the wrong fats can lead to chronic diseases, including arthritis, diabetes and cancer. She went on to develop a methodology to get polyunsaturated, or “good fats,” into the human diet. The importance of this is that she was able to figure out how the body could successfully absorb Omega-3 oils, also known to be anti inflammatories.

Buddy Custard blends together high-quality flaxseed oil and cottage cheese following Dr. Budwig's methods. This combination becomes a conduit to get flaxseed into the cells of the body which in turn helps to rebuild mutated cells. This unique method of delivering flaxseed, which is also a natural blood thinner, helps to prevent against diabetes and other “other serious chronic diseases that plague our pets.

Upon trying the combination, himself, Robert was surprised by the great taste and even more satisfied with the results. Robert is now cancer free and has continued to eat this ice-cream type treat twice a day. “I could feel the throbbing from my tumors dissipating and knew I was on the right course. I started teaching people about this protocol that had helped me and started to spread it to pets. Dog owners frequently comment that their pets are more energized, that their coats look healthier and that their odors have disappeared. We reengineered the same technology that Dr. Budwig developed to adapt to the taste buds of dogs. It's our own proprietary formula that affects all cells in the body.”

Since founding the budding Buddy Custard brand, the robust Robert has found himself on a spiritual journey. As an animal lover and activist, who had previously founded a non-profit animal rescue, Robert is excited to have found a way to give back by helping other people and their pets with his all-natural products. He is even continuing to develop new flavors and products – let's just say that the future is feline! That's because Buddy Custard will soon be introducing a salmon krill kind for cat companions, as well as Buddy Custard Probiotic, which will replace billions of bad bacteria with good bacteria due to the naturally occurring probiotic found in cottage cheese. Every time a dog has diarrhea; they lose these good bacteria during their movements. Other future flavors to look out for include vanilla and honey. They have also completed testing on a hemp oil infused Buddy Custard which can be given to dogs stricken with severe arthritis.

With the unprecedented pandemic wreaking havoc on our immune systems, staying focused on the health and well-being of ourselves and our entire families, including the four-legged members, has become more pertinent than ever before. Each 20oz, easy-to-use container of Buddy Custard is recommended for young, healthy dogs, so that they can remain healthy for the rest of their ball catching, licking lives!
